Introduce your workforce to skills

Allow us to make some introductions!

“Employees, meet Skills — Skills, meet Employees”

Our primary goal is to get role and skill definitions out of spreadsheets that are siloed in the HR department, and into the environments where your employees work. When that happens, employees get really engaged! They can ensure their skills are visible to everyone in the organization, and they can set skill-based goals and career paths. They can also find other skilled people in your organization, learn about different roles in which they may be interested, and consume targeted training that propels them along their individual career journeys.

Meet your employees where they work – in Microsoft 365

Get a quick start, but retain control

We know the value that Skills Copilot delivers when your employees see your roles come to life.

But we also know that your time is limited and that software solutions (however useful) just become another item on your ‘to-do’ list.

The ‘Lift’ program has one simple aim – to get you started without needing days of effort on your part. We prepare roles and skills that are specific to your organization before you even touch our apps – which means that your employees can start their skills experience straightaway. Then, at your convenience, we help you grow with the program and take the controls when you are ready. And as our name implies, we are always available as your ‘copilot’. Happy flying!

What we deliver

Role & skill mapping

If you simply have a list of job or role titles, you can share them with us and we will create rich role descriptions, contextually accurate skill definitions, and comprehensive mappings between roles and skills. We will review them with you before surfacing them into Microsoft Teams and Microsoft 365 for your employees.

Strategic & tactical guidance

We are with you every step of the way — from skills audits and skill data interpretation, through creation and mapping of skills-based training, to onboarding programs, custom career pathway creation, and strategic alignment with your organizational goals.

Training for your HR professionals

When all is said and done, we want your HR professionals to be comfortable at the controls of your organization’s skills-based journey. After all, we built Skills Copilot specifically for HR teams. The very same consultants who perform the Lift services for your organization help your HR team get up to speed and accelerate to cruising altitude.
